

Data Protection Consent Form and Information on the processing of personal data within the framework of Ecosystem Mobility 4.0

I. Declaration of Consent under Data Protection Law

The German Aerospace Centre (DLR) takes the protection of your personal data very seriously. The planned processing of your data for the purpose of enabling the Ecosystem Mobility 4.0 initiative to function, particularly in the context of the Ecosystem Mobility 4.0 BuildUp project, requires your prior consent as the legal basis. The information under II. has been provided to me for this purpose.

I consent to the DLR processing the specified personal data exclusively for the purposes stated above.

My consent is given voluntarily. I may refuse to give my consent without giving any reason, and I will not suffer any disadvantages as a result. I may also withdraw this consent at any time in writing (e.g. by email) with effect for the future. From the moment the notice of withdrawal is received, my data may no longer be processed. Withdrawing my consent does not affect the lawfulness of the processing carried out up to that point.

To enable you to make a transparent decision, we would like to inform you, in the following information on data protection under II., about how the DLR processes your personal data.

I. Information on the processing of personal data

In accordance with the EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), which came into force on 25 May 2018, this privacy notice provides you with information on how the DLR processes your personal data and on your rights. This notice will be updated as necessary and made available to you.

1. Data Controller and Data Protection Officer

The data controller within the meaning of the GDPR is the German Aerospace Centre (DLR)
Linder Höhe, 51147 Cologne
Website: <https://www.dlr.de>

You can contact the Data Protection Officer of the controller at:
Data Protection Officer of the DLR, Linder Höhe, 51147 Cologne,
Email: datenschutz@dlr.de

2. Purpose of data processing

The purpose of the processing is to enable the Ecosystem Mobility 4.0 initiative to function, particularly in the context of the Ecosystem Mobility 4.0 BuildUp project, which aims to establish a supporting association for this initiative. Within the Ecosystem Mobility 4.0 initiative, various thematic areas of action have been defined, which are to be developed by the community; several thematically related areas of action are grouped into clusters. The data is stored centrally at the DLR and shared with relevant individuals within the Ecosystem Mobility 4.0 initiative (see point 5). These individuals will use the data in their respective roles, in particular to invite people to meetings/events (workshops, regular meetings, etc.) for the initiative as a whole, or for individual areas of action within the initiative or clusters of these areas, and to distribute information (updates, news, project results, event notices, document access, etc.).

3. Categories of data

The following personal data is processed as part of the processing activities:
Surname; First name; Email address; Organisation/company; Role; Areas of activity in which the individual is to be involved.

4. Legal basis for processing

Where processing is based on a declaration of consent, Article 6(1)(a) of the GDPR constitutes the legal basis for the processing.

5. Recipients of personal data

Personal data is routinely disclosed internally only to those departments tasked with processing it. In this context, we always assess whether the disclosure is necessary to achieve the intended purpose. Your data will only be disclosed in accordance with confidentiality requirements and only to the extent permitted by law.

Data is shared within the Ecosystem Mobility 4.0 initiative, in particular with the BMW (German Federal Ministry for Economic Affairs and Energy), the project management agency, the initiative's steering committee, the project partners within the Ecosystem Mobility 4.0 BuildUp project, those responsible for specific areas of action, and the cluster spokespersons.

6. Retention period

Personal data will only be processed for as long as is necessary.
Data may be retained for longer if this is provided for by European or national legislation in EU regulations, laws or other provisions to which the controller is subject.

7. Your rights regarding your personal data

You have the following rights vis-à-vis DLR with regard to your personal data. To exercise these rights, please contact the department specified in section 1.

- Right of access – Art. 15 GDPR
The right of access entitles the data subject to comprehensive access to the data concerning them and to certain other important details, such as the purposes of processing or the duration of storage. The exceptions to this right set out in Section 34 of the Federal Data Protection Act (BDSG) apply.
- Right to rectification – Art. 16 GDPR
The right to rectification gives the data subject the opportunity to have inaccurate personal data concerning them corrected.

- Right to erasure – Art. 17 GDPR
The right to erasure gives the data subject the option of having data erased by the controller. However, this is only possible if the personal data relating to the data subject is no longer necessary, is being processed unlawfully, or consent to such processing has been withdrawn. The exceptions to this right set out in Section 35 of the Federal Data Protection Act (BDSG) apply.
- Right to restriction of processing – Art. 18 GDPR
The right to restriction of processing gives the data subject the option to prevent further processing of their personal data for the time being. A restriction applies in particular during the assessment phase of other rights exercised by the data subject.
- Right to data portability – Article 20 of the GDPR
The right to data portability gives data subjects the right to receive their personal data from the controller in a commonly used, machine-readable format, so that they can, if necessary, have it transferred to another controller.
- Right to object – Art. 21 GDPR
The right to object gives data subjects the opportunity, in specific circumstances, to object to the further processing of their personal data, provided that such processing is justified by the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or for the purposes of the legitimate interests pursued by the controller or by a third party. The exceptions to this right set out in Section 36 of the Federal Data Protection Act (BDSG) apply.
- Withdrawal of consent
Data subjects have the right to withdraw their consent to the processing of their personal data at any time, with effect for the future.
- Complaint to a supervisory authority – Art. 77 GDPR
Every data subject has the right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority. As a rule, the supervisory authority responsible for your usual place of residence, place of work or the registered office of the controller is available for this purpose.

8. Provision of personal data

There is no obligation to provide personal data. If such data is not provided in full or in part, processing will not be possible, or will only be possible to a limited extent. This does not apply to data that we process on the basis of consent.

9. Automated decision-making

No automated decision-making takes place.